The Department of Comparative Studies is pleased to announce the first workshop in a series

"Comparison as Method"

Professor Bruce Lincoln
University of Chicago, Divinity School

October 18, 4-6pm

University Hall Museum, room 143
(The University Museum is on the ground floor of University Hall)

Our first event will be a panel discussion with Professor Bruce Lincoln of the University of Chicago, Divinity School. We will all read his brief essay "Theses on Comparison" and then hear responses from our own Dorry Noyes (Comparative Studies and English), Tom Kasulis (Comparative Studies) and Fritz Graf (Classics), followed by a counter-response by Lincoln and open discussion for everyone.
